Hurricane Delta Preparations

The Center for Independent Living of Northwest Florida would like to encourage everyone to learn more about how they can prepare and stay safe as hurricane Delta makes its way towards the region. As of right now, the worst of the storm should hit west of our communities. It is still important to be properly prepared for flooding and winds. Northwest Florida still hasn't finished cleaning up after Sally and left-over loose debris could cause damage to property and power lines in your area.

If you need any assistance please call us at 850-595-5566 or email us at info@cilnwf.org. We will be checking in with our consumers as Delta begins to make landfall. If you do not need us to call you personally you are welcome to send us a message with your contact information letting us know that you are okay and that you don't need the Center to call you at this time.

Stay Informed and Enjoy Our Events Anytime!

Track Hurricane Delta Live: The Weather Channel brings you constant and updated information on systems around the clock. Hurricanes can be unpredictable, as we experienced with Sally, and being informed is the best way to stay safe. Learn more about what could be expected from Hurricane Delta in our area.

Sheriffs' Candidate Forum: Election Day is right around the corner! Watch the Sheriff Candidates Forum and make an informed decision on who you want to see as your next Sheriff.

Round Table Events: CILNWF will be premiering a new type of virtual experience. Starting on October 13th, 2020 we will be hosting virtual round table events with partners in our own community on subjects like education, ADA services, and much more. These presentations will be available live on Facebook and through Zoom! You will be able to ask questions by submitting them early, or by posting them live in the comment section, and our dedicated panelists of experts will answer any questions you may have.

Webinar Series: Our dedicated team conducts different online events and learning opportunities each week for our community. We know not everyone can attend them when they premier live, so we archive them on our website! Explore our Webinar Series page and find out more about what we have to offer.

Community Events: As much as we try, we know we cannot provide every opportunity that may be needed. That's why CILNWF always includes a list of other community events and resources that may be of interest to you. Inquire about what's coming up in the future by visiting this shared list of community events.

New Social Media: We are expanding our Social Media platforms! Follow us now on our Facebook, Twitter, and Instagram to keep up on everything CILNWF is doing.
